INTRODUCTION

Facts you need to know about the FIFA Club World Cup

1. The FIFA Club World Cup is now in its seventh edition and is being held in the United Arab Emirates for the second time. The tournament, first played in Brazil in 2000, has been staged in Japan from 2005 until 2008. Japan will once again be the host city in 2011.
2. To date, three Brazilian clubs (Corinthians in 2000, Sao Paulo in 2005 and Sport Club Internacional in 2006), one Italian club (AC Milan in 2007), one English club (Manchester United in 2008) and one Spanish club (FC Barcelona in 2009) have won the FIFA Club World Cup.
3. In all, 38 different teams have participated in the FIFA Club World Cup. Al Ahly (EGY) and Pachuca (MEX) have taken part three times, Barcelona (Spain) Auckland City (New Zealand), Waitakere United (New Zealand), TP Mazembe (COD) and SC Internacional (BRA) have competed twice.
4. Four teams will make their debut in the FIFA Club World Cup UAE 2010: AFC Champions League winners Seongnam Ilhwa Chunma FC (Korea Republic), the winner of the UEFA Champions League FC Internazionale (ITA) as well as the winner of the OFC O-League Hekari United FC (PNG) and Al Wahda (UAE).
5. Al Wahda qualified for the FIFA Club World Cup automatically as winners of the UAE Football League (UFC). Al Wahda will be the second club from UAE to participate in the FIFA Club World Cup. Al Ahly were the first.
6. All the Brazilian teams are unbeaten in 12 FIFA Club World Cup matches. Corinthians played Vasco da Gama in the 2000 final, drawing 0:0, and finally winning on penalties.
7. Dwight Yorke (ENG) and the angolan FLAVIO are the only players to score in two editions. (Yorke: 1 goal for Manchester United (ENG) in 2000, 1 goal for Sydney FC (AUS) in 2005; Flavio 2 goals for Al Ahly (EGY) in 2006, 1 goal for Al Ahly (EGY) in 2008)
8. Hadi AGHILY from Sepahan (IRN) scored two own goals in the 2007 edition.
9. To date, Brazilian goalkeeper Dida is the only player to have won the tournament twice, with two different teams (Corinthians/BRA in 2000, AC Milan/ITA in 2007).
10. Filippo Inzaghi, ITA is the only player to score brace in a FIFA Club World Cup final. In 2007 he scored two goals for AC Milan/ITA against Boca Juniors/ARG.
11. Lionel Messi's goal in last year's final was the 148th in the history of the FCWC. The 150th this year will undoubtedly be achieved.
12. There is no adidas Golden Boot award at the Club World Cup as there are only seven games played and therefore fewer goals to choose from.

History

Intercontinental and Toyota Cup

Between 1960 and 1968, the International Cup was a competition endorsed by UEFA and CONMEBOL and contested between the winners of the European Champions' Cup and the South American Copa Libertadores. The system of play was a home-and-away series, decided by points only (the same format used by CONMEBOL to determine the winner of the Copa Libertadores final until 1987). Because of this format, a third match was needed when both teams were tied on points.

From 1969 to 1979, the Intercontinental Cup continued as a two-leg competition between the UEFA and the CONMEBOL club champions. However, it adopted the European standard method to decide the winner by adding the goals of both matches to the aggregate score.

As of 1980 and until 2004, the competition was held as a single match in Tokyo and Yokohama, Japan. It was called the Toyota Cup, named after its sponsor.

FIFA Club World Cup

The first FIFA Club World Cup was held in 2000 in Brazil with the participation of the club champions of all six confederations (AFC, CAF, CONCACAF, CONMEBOL, OFC and UEFA). In addition to those six teams, two additional competitors were invited: Real Madrid from Spain as the Toyota Cup winner of 1998 and the Brazilian host team, Corinthians, who went on to win the trophy.

In 2005 the Toyota Cup merged with the FIFA Club World Cup and ever since this competition has been played under the auspices of FIFA and between the club champions from the 6 Confederations (UEFA's and CONMEBOL's representative entering the competition in the semifinals). In 2007, the Japanese league winner was to be included to represent the host country but since a Japanese team won the AFC Champions League, the highest placed non Japanese team of the AFC Champions League played the play-off for quarter-finals with the OFC representative.

Participating Team Profiles

AFC

Seongnam Ilhwa Chunma F.C. (KOR)

Seongnam Ilhwa Chunma F.C. will represent Asia at the 2010 FIFA Club World Cup by virtue of winning the AFC Champions League. The side from Korea Republic beat Iranian side Zob Ahan 3-1 in the final held on 13 November, 2010.

The past

Over the past two decades, Seongnam Ilhwa Chunma F.C. have emerged as the K-League's dominant force. Twice during this period, between 1993 and 95 and 2001 and 03, they have cemented their pre-eminent position by stringing together three successive domestic championships.

Founded in 1989, it was the club's first-ever coach, Park Jong-Hwan, who established the Chunma's (Pegasus) unique blend of attacking football and watertight defence. Seongnam's first international successes came in the mid-1990s, when they first won the Asian Club Championship in 1995 before going on to claim the Asian Super Cup and the Afro-Asian Club Championship the following year.

The present

Further conquests followed, but after finishing runners-up in the AFC Champions League in 2004, when surrendered a 3-1 first leg advantage against Al Ittihad by losing the return 5-0, Seongnam appeared to be losing some of their lustre. They did go on to win their seventh national title under the guidance of Kim Hak-Bum two years later, but this influential tactician could not keep the Chunma from falling exiting the continental championship at the semi-final stage in 2007. Last year brought about a change in the dugout as former captain Shin Tae-Yong took charge, and the 40-year-old silenced his critics by leading a rejuvenated side to second place in the K-League and the final of the Korean FA Cup in his first season at the helm. Shin's men then went on to take the Asian stage by storm in 2010, with new recruits Mauricio Molina, Dzenan Radoncic and skipper Sasa Ognjenovski playing pivotal roles as Seongnam clinched the Asian title and, in doing so, secured a place at the FIFA Club World Cup.

The future

While Seongnam will make their debut on the world stage at UAE 2010, their captain Ognjenovski has already experienced the finals two years ago. "I've played there with Adelaide United [at Japan 2008]," the giant centre-half told FIFA.com. "It's a fantastic tournament to be involved in. Even for the younger players, it will be an amazing experience and a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to go to the Club World Cup and play against the top five clubs in the world." (source: fifa.com)

CAF

TP Mazembe Englebert (COD)

TP Mazembe Englebert from DR Congo will make their second consecutive appearance at a FIFA Club World Cup after successfully defending their CAF African Champions League title with a 6-1 aggregate victory over Esperance from Tunisia on 13 November. They will represent the Mother Continent at the FIFA Club World Cup UAE 2010.

The past

If winning the CAF Champions League last year was, in itself, an admirable feat for Tout Puissant Mazembe Englebert of Congo DR, their successful defence of the title this season was even more impressive. Nor was it the first time the Lubumbashi club has lifted the prestigious trophy in successive years: their original back-to-back triumphs came in 1967 and 1968, and were followed by runner's-up spots in 1969 and 1970. TP Mazembe added an African Cup Winners' Cup to their list of honours in 1980, further enhancing their continental pedigree. And though it would be almost 30 years before Les Corbeaux (The Crows) again won an African title, they continued to assert themselves at domestic level. Indeed, five of their ten national championships were secured during the last decade, as was one of their five national cups.

The present

In reaching the summit of African club football in 2009, TP Mazembe earned themselves a maiden appearance at the FIFA Club World Cup. Their players clearly enjoyed the experience and now return to Abu Dhabi for a second bite of the cherry. During this season's quest for a second successive Champions League title, the Congolese side experienced many memorable highs, including a stunning 5-0 demolition of Esperance Sportive de Tunis in the first leg of the continental final in Lubumbashi. There were also disappointing lows, like the 3-0 defeat they suffered at the hands of the same Tunisian opponents during the group phase, the year-long suspension imposed on prolific striker Tresor Mabi Mputu and the departure of coach Diego Garzitto. Former Senegal international Lamine N'Diaye took up the reins in September, instilling an efficient and confident style of play that was there for all to see during both legs of the recent final.

The future

The four-time African champions will have one advantage over some of their potential adversaries at the FIFA Club World Cup 2010; that of experience. Having come up short in their maiden appearance last December, first losing 2-1 to Pohang Steelers at the quarter-final stage, then succumbing 3-2 to Auckland City in the match for fifth place, pressure-induced stage fright should be less of a factor for Mazembe this time around. The majority of the squad that took part in the 2009 adventure are still with the club, and they will be out to prove they have learned from that campaign. Also of significance is the new mindset brought about by N'Diaye. "They're a different side now," points out club chairman Moise Katumbi, adding, "Every player wants to be out on the pitch, fighting for the team and winning games. Lamine N'Diaye has fostered a real fighting spirit. (source: fifa.com)

UEFA

F.C. Internazionale Milano (ITA)

Italy's F.C. Internazionale Milano defeated Bayern Munich of Germany in the UEFA Champions League final 2-0 on 22 May, 2010, at the Bernabeu Stadium in Madrid, and they will represent Europe at the 2010 FIFA Club World Cup.

The past

Even before 2010's historic treble, when they won the Italian league, the Coppa Italia and the UEFA Champions League, Inter Milan were already giants of Italian and European football. The two-time winners of the Intercontinental Cup are the only side never to have dropped out of Serie A, and were also the team that popularised the famous catenaccio defensive system. Over the years, legendary coaches like Helenio Herrera and Jose Mourinho have combined with stalwarts such as Giuseppe Meazza and Javier Zanetti to make I Nerazzurri one of the world's most successful teams.

The present

Inter owe their return to the summit of European football after 45 years to the magic touch of Mourinho. The Portuguese coach was able to take a group of super-talented individuals and mould them into a united, almost unbeatable team that knocked out the likes of Chelsea and Barcelona on the way to the final, before dispensing with a previously unstoppable Bayern Munich side. The key trio of Lucio, Wesley Sneijder and Diego Milito were all recruited in summer of 2009, and the investment has now been rewarded with qualification for the FIFA Club World Cup UAE 2010. Mourinho has moved on to Real Madrid, but his shoes have been filled by Rafael Benitez, giving the latter a chance to claim the prize that eluded him in 2005, when his Liverpool side succumbed 1-0 in the final to Brazil's Sao Paulo.

The future

With five consecutive Italian titles under their belt, Inter go into the competition as favourites. Perhaps most importantly, they have managed to hold on to their best players, including the Dutch star Wesley Sneijder. The FIFA World Cup™ finalist has made a win in Abu Dhabi one of his priorities. "My heart is in Milan," he said in the run-up to the 2010/11 season. "With Inter last season, I won everything in sight. But there are some great prizes still to be won, like the European Super Cup, the Italian Super Cup and the Club World Cup." (source: fifa.com)

CONCACAF

Club de Futbol Pachuca (MEX)

CONCACAF Champions League 2010

The CONCACAF zone (North, Central America and the Caribbean) will send one participant to the 2010 FIFA Club World Cup, the winner of the CONCACAF Champions League final on 28 April. Pachuca defeated Cruz Azul on away goals in the final.

The past

After having spent much of their existence playing lower division football, the 21st century has seen Mexican side Pachuca become one of the most successful clubs both domestically and in the CONCACAF region. In fact, this will be the Latin Americans' third appearance at the FIFA Club World Cup. Their two previous participations did not live long in the memory, however, with a shock quarter-final defeat by Tunisia's Etoile Sportive du Sahel in 2007 and losses to Ecuadorian side Liga Universitaria de Quito and Japan's Gamba Osaka in 2008 testimony to missed opportunities.

The present

Could it be a case of third time lucky for Los Tuzos? They are certainly hopeful that the experience gained in those previous tournaments will stand them in good stead, as they look to become the first-ever CONCACAF team to reach the final of the prestigious global event. To achieve this goal, they will arrive in the UAE with a finely-balanced squad boasting both home-grown talent and high-profile foreign players. It would be no exaggeration to suggest that this is the best Pachuca side to have qualified for the FIFA Club World Cup, and that their desire to make a mark on the competition is keener than ever.

The future

"I promise that we'll keep winning – that's our plan and my personal goal. I'd like us to arrive at the Club World Cup in the best possible form, as success in the competition is crucial to the club." Those were the words of new Pachuca coach Pablo Marini upon his appointment in August of this year, and they echo the ambition of a group of players who have always dreamed of international recognition, but are aware that two glorious chances have already passed them by. OFC

Hekari United F.C. (PNG)

Oceania's representative at the 2010 FIFA Club World Cup is the winner of the OFC O-League final played on 2 May 2010. Papua New Guinea's Hekari United F.C. defeated New Zealand's Waitakere United 4-2 on aggregate, winning 3-0 in Port Moresby and losing the second leg 2-1 in Auckland.

The past

Hekari United FC have enjoyed a meteoric rise from amateur football to continental champions in the space of just seven years since their foundation in 2003. Originally known as PRK Souths United FC, the team from the capital Port Moresby enjoyed instant success, moving into the top flight within two years. The club immediately became a dominant force, and have won all four editions of the Papua New Guinea National Soccer League since the current format of the national league was introduced in 2006.

The present

Under Solomon Islander coach Jerry Allen, Hekari were competitive in their maiden tilt at the OFC O-League in 2009, finishing fourth. The following year, the club continued its policy of acquiring some of the Pacific's best players from the likes of Fiji and the Solomons and, along with some of PNG's finest talent, it proved a highly successful formula. The result was that Hekari overturned the form book and created history in May by becoming the first team to break the stranglehold held on the continental competition by Australian and New Zealand clubs. The aggregate win over Kiwis Waitakere United was set up by a first-leg win at home in front of 15,000 fans, believed to be a national record attendance.

With the domestic competition taking a lengthy break prior to its re-start in October, Hekari continued their build-up for the FIFA Club World Cup UAE 2010 with a tour of northern Australia in July. They also have three matches of the new league O-League season scheduled prior to their arrival in Abu Dhabi.

The future

Since the O-League triumph in Auckland, Fiji's Alvin Singh and local player Tau Winnie have joined the four-time national champions. Solomon Islands duo Henry Fa'arodo and Aleck Maemae will provide the experience needed in Abu Dhabi, with the former having played in the Australian A-League with Perth Glory. (source: fifa.com)

CONMEBOL

Sport Club Internacional (BRA)

South America will have one representative at the 2010 FIFA Club World Cup. Sport Club Internacional (Brazil) lost the second leg of the Copa Libertadores semi-final against Sao Paulo 2-1 but advanced to the final on away goals, where they will face Chivas Guadalajara (México). As an invited participant and a member of CONCACAF, Mexican finalists Chivas Guadalajara cannot represent CONMEBOL, meaning Internacional qualified for the 2010 FIFA Club World Cup.

The past

Boasting an enviable domestic record that includes three Brazilian Serie A titles – one of them attained with an unbeaten record – one Copa do Brasil and 39 state championships, Internacional are also a force to be reckoned with on the continental stage.

Over the last four seasons O Colorado have won all Latin American football's major club titles, namely the Copa Sudamericana, the Recopa Sudamericana and, on two occasions, the coveted Copa Libertadores.

Yet the most significant moment in this golden era in the club's history came in 2006 when, thanks to a goal from Adriano, they beat the mighty Barcelona in the final of the FIFA Club World Cup, a tournament that witnessed the emergence of one Alexandre Pato. Inter have maintained their consistency on the international scene since then, going on to beat Inter Milan in the final of the 2008 Dubai Cup.

The present

The Porto Alegre side invested a significant sum of money in their ultimately successful bid to win the Libertadores for a second time, bringing in Uruguayan coach Jorge Fossati and a clutch of new signings. Fossati took the side, led by Argentinian midfielder Andres D'Alessandro, through to the semi-finals only to be replaced by Celso Roth after some poor results and criticism from the fans.

Making the most of the break for the 2010 FIFA World Cup South Africa™, Roth dipped into the transfer market and brought home three heroes of the 2006 team: Renan, Tinga and Rafael Sobis. Revitalised, Inter saw off compatriots Sao Paulo in the last four before lifting the trophy for a second time when they beat Mexico's Guadalajara 5-3 on aggregate in the final.

The future

Semi-final victory over Sao Paulo guaranteed Internacional a place at the FIFA Club World Cup UAE 2010 as Guadalajara, in their capacity as a Copa Libertadores invitee and member of CONCACAF, were ineligible to represent CONMEBOL. Having held on to the core of the team, the Brazilians are banking on the talent of D'Alessandro and Giuliano and the experience of Bolivar, Kleber and Pablo Guinazu to make an impact in Abu Dhabi, where they will go in search of world title number two.
